ABOUT AIA UCLA

The American Indian Alumni of UCLA (AIA) is an alliance of UCLA American Indian graduates as well as others affiliated with or otherwise interested in UCLA. The AIA is also composed of supporters, friends, allies, students and interested parties from the American Indian Community. The AIA is concerned with the welfare of American Indians at UCLA who share this alliance’s goals and purposes of advocacy, cooperation, and self-determination. It is hoped that the AIA will foster and encourage the large numbers of American Indian alumni and friends to become more visible in their support of American Indians at UCLA and to communicate their ideas and concerns about the universities’ policies, programs and future.

ABOUT THE CRYSTAL DAWN ROBERTS-MESA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Crystal Dawn Roberts-Mesa Memorial Scholarship is a scholarship cultivated and created by a group of UCLA Native Alumni looking to assist current American Indian Students. The rise in tuition costs, coupled with the increased demands on students necessitates swift and decisive action by the American Indian community, and this scholarship is one way we’re working together to do just that. The scholarship is named after an American Indian alum who passed away too soon, but definitely left her mark.

Crystal was and remains a dynamic individual who studied hard in her numerous classes, advocated for better treatment of American Indians, counseled and tutored American Indian youth, mentored incoming college students and contributed selflessly to her community, both in Los Angeles and in her hometown of San Diego. Crystal believed that it was important to connect with people, open up a dialogue with opponents, and develop innovative approaches to help promote social justice. No matter who Crystal met in life, she made an impact that would always be remembered. Crystal had such an impact because she was passionate about helping others, and because she brought the best out of everyone.

This Scholarship in Crystal’s memory will be utilized to help American Indian students at UCLA who are part of the American Indian Student Association. Additionally, these students will need to be active advocates in some manner in the American Indian community. Just as Crystal was active in making both UCLA and Los Angeles a better place for American Indians, so too should the recipient of this award. The scholarship’s principle idea is that it takes a person of character and integrity to sacrifice and devote personal time to their community, and we believe that such a person needs to be recognized and celebrated.
